RECYCLING THE LI-ION BATTERY

When the Shark® Li-ion battery needs to be replaced, dispose of it or recycle it in accordance with local ordinances or regulations. In some areas, it is illegal to place spent lithium-ion batteries in the bin or in a municipal solid waste stream. Return spent batteries to an authorised recycling centre or to the retailer for recycling. Contact your local recycling centre for information on where to drop off the spent battery.

NOTE: The Shark battery, like all lithium-ion batteries, will naturally decrease in capacity over time from the 100% capacity of a new battery.

Make sure the contacts on the wand are aligned with the contacts on the charging post.

TROUBLESHOOTING

⚠ WARNING: To reduce the risk of shock and unintended operation, turn off power and remove the battery before servicing.

Vacuum is not picking up debris. No suction or light suction. Power button blinks white six times, in 2-second intervals.

- Check filters to see if they need cleaning. Follow instructions for rinsing and completely air-drying the filters before reinstalling them.

Vacuum turns off on its own.

There are several possible reasons for the vacuum turning off on its own, including blockages, battery issues, and overheating. If vacuum turns off on its own, perform the following steps:

1. Turn on the power and check the battery indicator lights on the vacuum. If recharging is needed, make sure vacuum power is off before charging.
2. Empty dust cup and clean filters (See the Cleaning the Dust Cup and Filter section).
3. Check accessories and inlet openings and remove any blockages.
4. Allow unit and battery to cool for at least 45 minutes, until they return to room temperature.
5. Press the On/Off button to restart the vacuum.

POWER BUTTON	WHAT IT MEANS	WHAT TO DO
Vacuum shuts off. Power button blinks 5 times in 2-second intervals, then stops.	Low voltage start.	With the power off, check the nozzle opening for blockages. Remove any obstructions. Allow unit and battery to cool for at least 45 minutes, returning to room temperature. The battery may need to be charged. Charge completely (approximately 3.5 hours) by placing the vacuum on the charging stand. If problem persists, contact Customer Service.
Boost mode button is blinking.	Motor is overheating.	Allow the vacuum cleaner and battery to cool to room temperature for about 45 minutes. While waiting, refer to the cleaning section and remove any blockages. These can impede airflow. The unit can be placed on the charger and will start charging when it has reached normal temperature.
Boost mode button blinks 5 times in 2-second intervals, then stops.	Overspeed.	With the power off, check the nozzle opening for jams or clogs. Remove any obstructions. If the problem persists, contact Customer Service.

NOTE: If vacuum still does not operate properly, contact Customer Service at 0800 862 0453 or Sharkclean.co.uk.
